WARM WELCOME TO SECRETARY LINCOLN

Chamber of Commerce Rooms Crowded Wednesday Evening, Lunch Served by Committee

Secretary Lincoln Speaks of Chamber of Commerce Work, Howard W. Kitchin Appointed a Committee Chairman

Fred T. Lincoln, new secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, was given a warm welcome at the meeting on Wednesday evening. The attendance was large and the rooms were practically filled.

President Henry I. Cohen, in his introductory remarks, praised Mr. Lincoln and spoke of the testimonials he had read about his work, and he was glad of the enthusiastic response of the club and the presence of the members. The Chamber of Commerce said Mr. Cohen, should be the heart, soul and nucleus of every good movement for civic improvement in the city. The club would be strengthened by the work of the new secretary who would impart to the situation new ideas in management and promotion.

Mr. Lincoln, in his first speech to the club, said he appreciated the remarks of Mr. Cohen and that he would always strive to be worthy of the glowing tribute paid him. In his new office in Brainerd it was his desire to proceed slowly, to feel his way and to size up the situation.

He said clubs should not only strive for the big things, but should make it a point not to neglect the little things, many of which were very essential to the well being of the organization and the prosperity of the town. He mentioned the recognized field of work for a commercial club or chamber of commerce, the securing of new industries, upbuilding the established ones, securing conventions, encouraging trade, supervision of charity solicitations, home campaigns for merchants, broadening the relations with farmers and other centers tributary to a town, etc.

He could not see why it was not possible to continue the good feeling in the city by means of market days, club dinners, trade extension tours, community work, etc. He did not feel like being a Moses, however, when the club was in such fine shape.

"I promise to give you the best in me," said Mr. Lincoln earnestly. "I will go to the end of the furrow. I am anxious to be successful as you are to see me succeed." A generous meed of applause was given Mr. Lincoln.

Mr. Cohen then called on C. E. Hansing, the retiring secretary. Mr. Hansing said he appreciated what Mr. Lincoln had said about the trials and tribulations of a secretary and what President Cohen had said. He believed his two years' work had demonstrated the necessity of a Chamber of Commerce. He had heard it said that the organization would face its crucial period July 1, 1917, when a large proportion of the three year memberships expired and when the club faced the problem of their renewal. He was certain there would be no loss in memberships, and that the Chamber of Commerce was on a firm foundation.

The railway committee filed its report relative to the Northern Pacific depot, following charges made by Senator George H. Gardner that the station was not in a sanitary condition and appealing to the State Railway and Warehouse Commission for relief. It was the unanimous sentiment of the committee members present at the conference that it was inexpedient and inadvisable to file a complaint with the commission, as the matter had previously not been brought to the attention of the railway company, thus giving them an opportunity to act before heaping up charges. The report as thus submitted to the Chamber and advisory

The reply to Germany's protest against Norway's stand with regard to submarines in Norwegian waters was still under discussion, the advices added, but it was said the Norwegian government organ, in reference to the relations between Norway and Germany, declared it might be assumed that the German protest was so couched as not to bear the character of an ultimatum.

The steamers Alix and Rising and the schooner Theodore, together with the Swedish schooners Antoinette and Henriette, are among the latest submarine victims, the dispatch adds.

The Tidens Tegn of Christiania says that one boat with six men from the Norwegian steamer Ravn, reported sunk by a German submarine in the Arctic on Oct. 2, has been lost, while another boat with eleven men on board reached a lonely part of the Russian Murman coast after drifting thirteen hours.

It is said several Canadian cities will ship gold to New York in addition to the exports direct from London. The assay office, it is understood, stands ready to receive $15,000,000 a week for an indefinite period.

board was adopted without a dissenting vote.

The house committee reported a
profit on the cigar stand.

President Cohen reported the resignation of E. H. Jones from the chairmanship of the parks and play-
grounds committee and the appointment by the committee on committees of Howard W. Kitchin to the position. The appointment was confirmed by the Chamber.

The Morgan Post Drum corps correspondence was thrashed out. The
drum corps had been hired by Mr.
Hansing, who later countermanded
it. The drum corps was ready and willing to fill its engagement at Brainerd at the time of the old soldiers encampment and under the circumstances they filed a claim of $45
against the Chamber of Commerce.
On motion, the bill was allowed and
peace restored with the drum corps.

The special committee on street
lighting reported the presentation of
its statement to the city council and
their reception of the same. W. H.
Cleary was chairman of this special
committee.

The Chamber ordered the payment
of $21, half the expense of installing
the "Keep to the Right" street signs.
The Brainerd Automobile Association
pays the other half.

The advisory board reported their
recommendation of a special session
of the legislature to permit soldiers
at the front to vote at the coming
presidential election, and their advic-
ing the governor that the recommendation was made subject to the action
of the Chamber of Commerce as a whole. The recommendation was adopted. Governor Burnquist has
sounded members of the legislature
on the proposition and the sentiment
so far, favored a special session, that
the same has been called.

Election returns from the Western Union were not contracted for. Suitable resolutions referring to the work
of the past secretary, Mr. Hansing,
are to be prepared.

Dr. L. C. Edwards and S. P. Ran-
dall, of the Brainerd Business College, were accepted as members of the Chamber of Commerce.

The house and entertainment committee had the steaming coffee prepared and as the odors of the lunch
penetrated the inner workings of the Chamber of Commerce, the call of
responses under the good of the order, gave way to some of the good
of the order out in the main room
and a motion to adjourn carried with
a suddenness that almost swept the
entertainment committee off its feet.

President Cohen endeavored to
describe very technically that it was
a lap lunch, buffet or "stand up"
lunch. All fled in line and swept in review before F. E. Stout who presided at the big coffee boiler and
poured coffee, then on to the cream
station, where Leroy Smith had the
thing in charge, on to Frank G. Hall
who was lading out the sandwiches
and pickles on cardboard plates and
then on to R. R. Gould who dealt out
the snacks.

It was a good lap lunch, all right.
Some of the fellows made two laps
in their visit to the refreshment center. It was a huge success and did
a whole lot to bring about a good feeling in the membership.

And this lap lunch, by the way, is
about to graduate into a good club
dinner with still more fixings to it, a
meal that can be partaken of earlier
in the evening and will permit the
man of the shops and the office, town
and country, to have his supper right

at the club and thus lay the founda- tion for a good, enjoyable, get-together meeting. When things come to that pass you won't be able to drag a

man away from a Chamber of Commerce meeting and Mrs. Housewife
will know what to expect when Wednesday evening comes around.

It was these club dinners which
made a big hit in Thief River Falls
and Secretary Lincoln said it brought
the whole membership to the meeting.

TODAY'S NORTHWEST

St. Cloud, Oct. 25.—A dog is worth $15. It cost $50 to have this put on Stearns county records today, in a suit in which Mrs. Catherine Blender alleged her dog was killed by an automobile driven by C. F. Yager.
She got damages, but the case
may be further appealed.

SIXTY YEARS YOUNG

John Larson Given a Surprise Party
on Occasion of Birthday Anniversary Tuesday Evening

Friends led John Larson, popular
merchant, to the home of James Peterson in Southeast Brainerd. Mr.
Larson was 60 years young that day
and he was reminded of the fact when 30 people took possession of the house and captured Mr. Larson and
gave him numerous presents.

Refreshments were served and all
enjoyed a very pleasant evening.

Collision in Brainerd

Emil Zontelli drove to Verndale
Sunday accompanied by Mr. and Mrs.
Proctor, Henry Zontelli and Rodney Eastings. A little after o'clock as they were coming through Brainerd
on Oak street, another car struck
them as they crossing a street. None
of the people in either car were injured, but the cars were both damaged. The injuries to Mr. Zontelli's
car did not affect the running of it,
and the party was not detained very
long. The other car lost a wheel
and was otherwise damaged.—Aronton News.

LEAVE BOOTY IN MACHINE

Auto Skids and Out Go Bandits and Bank Loot.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Four auto bandits
who robbed William Gronnemann,
bank messenger, of $3,200, had not
counted on the elements.

Their green touring car skidded
across Diversey parkway, made slippery by rains, and crashed into a curb-stone at Lincoln street, throwing
them out.

One was caught and beaten by several citizens, and the others fled, leaving the booty in the machine.

The prisoner gave the name of Edward Newberg.

NO CHANGE AT PRESENT TIME

Prayer Book of Episcopal Church to Remain the Same.

St. Louis, Oct. 26.—Efforts to shorten the Ten Commandments as read in the communion service have been abandoned at the present session of the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church.

It was asserted that until the next convention in 1919, at least, the decalogue will stand in the prayer book
as it is.

Auto Bandits Take Safe.

Baraboo, Wis., Oct. 25.—Auto bandits smashed their way into H. S. Porter's feed store by backing their machine through the front of the building. After ransacking the office they carried off the safe, which contained nothing but papers. Two hundred dollars in a desk was overlooked.

BATTLESHIP BIDS*ARE BELOW LIMIT

Washington, Oct. 26.—Bids for the

four new battleships Colorado, Mary-

land, Washington and West Virginia

were opened at the navy department.

While all of the tenders show the
heavy increase in prices due to the
abnormal conditions of the shipbuild-
ing industry, they were within the department's limit of cost and it is virtually certain that all four ships will
be awarded to private concerns.

Prices for the battleships quoted
ranged from $10,000,000 to $11,475,
000, as against the department's
limit for hull and machinery of $11-500,000. A study of the bids is now
in progress and awards will be made
only after a careful review of the
modifications proposed by every bidder
has been made.

It is believed, however, that the Fore River Shipbuilding company,
Quincy, Mass., will get two of the big
ships and the Newport News Ship and Drydock company the other two.

CANADIAN STRIKE*IS DECLARED OFF

Winnipeg, Oct. 26.—The strike of

Canadian Pacific railroad employees,

set for Wednesday, was declared off,

an agreement satisfactory to both parties

having been reached.

"Settlement of the differences between the trainmen and conductors
and their employers was reached after
an eleven-hour conference between
representatives of both sides.

Adjustment of the dispute averts a
walkout of about 8,000 workmen, who
were demanding concessions in working hours and wages.

The formal order recalling the
strike order was sent out, but details
of the conference at which the strike
was averted were not given out.

MAIN WITNESS IS MISSING

Manitoba Officials Worried Over Outcome of the Draft Cases.

Winnipeg, Oct. 26.—William Salt,
one of the government's principal witnesses in the Thomas Kelly and former cabinet ministers trials, has left
Canada and is en route to England,
according to word received here.

Salt is returning to join his regiment in England, having failed to receive a commission in the Canadian army.

Government officials are worried by
his departure, as he was expected to testify when the former ministers are retried and in the Dr. R. M. Simpson trial, another alleged graft case.

A Paradox.

"Will you please insert this obituary notice?" writes a correspondent to the editor of a paper. "I make bold to ask it, because I know the deceased had many friends who'd be glad to hear of his death."

WARM WELCOME TO SECRETARY LINCOLN

board was adopted without a dissent-
ing vote.

The house committee reported a
profit on the cigar stand.

President Cohen reported the resignation of E. H. Jones from the chairmanship of the parks and play-
grounds committee and the appointment by the committee on committees of Howard W. Kitchin to the position. The appointment was confirmed by the Chamber.

The Morgan Post Drum corps correspondence was thrashed out. The
drum corps had been hired by Mr.
Hansing, who later countermanded
it. The drum corps was ready and
willing to fill its engagement at Brainerd at the time of the old soldiers encampment and under the circumstances they filed a claim of $45
against the Chamber of Commerce.
On motion, the bill was allowed and
peace restored with the drum corps.

The special committee on street
lighting reported the presentation of
its statement to the city council and
their reception of the same. W. H.
Cleary was chairman of this special
committee.

The Chamber ordered the payment
of $21, half the expense of installing
the "Keep to the Right" street signs.
The Brainerd Automobile Association
pays the other half.

The advisory board reported their
recommendation of a special session
of the legislature to permit soldiers
at the front to vote at the coming
presidential election, and their advising the governor that the recommendation was made subject to the action
of the Chamber of Commerce as a
whole. The recommendation was adopted. Governor Burnquist has
sounded members of the legislature
on the proposition and the sentiment
so far, favored a special session, that
the same has been called.

Election returns from the Western Union were not contracted for. Suit-
able resolutions referring to the work
of the past secretary, Mr. Hansing,
are to be prepared.

Dr. I. C. Edwards and S. P. Ran-
dall, of the Brainerd Business College, were accepted as members of
the Chamber of Commerce.

The house and entertainment committee had the steaming coffee prepared and as the odors of the lunch
penetrated the inner workings of the Chamber of Commerce, the call of
responses under the good of the order, gave way to some of the good
of the order out in the main room
and a motion to adjourn carried with
a suddenness that almost swept the
entertainment committee off its feet.

President Cohen endeavored to
describe very technically that it was
a lap lunch, buffet or "stand up"
lunch. All tided in line and swept in review before F. E. Stout who pre-
sided at the big coffee boiler and
poured coffee, then on to the cream
station, where Leroy Smith had the
thing in charge, on to Frank G. Hall
who was lading out the sandwiches
and pickles on cardboard plates and
then on to R. R. Gould who dealt out
the snacks.

It was a good lap lunch, all right.
Some of the fellows made two laps
in their visit to the refreshment cen-
ter. It was a huge success and did
a whole lot to bring about a good feeling in the membership.

And this lap lunch, by the way, is
about to graduate into a good club
dinner with still more fixings to it, a
meal that can be partaken of earlier
in the evening and will permit the
man of the shops and the office, town
and country, to have his supper right

at the club and thus lay the foundation for a good, enjoyable, get-together meeting. When things come to
that pass you won't be able to drag a
man away from a Chamber of Commerce meeting and Mrs. Housewife
will know what to expect when Wednesday evening comes around.

It was these club dinners which
made a big hit in Thief River Falls
and Secretary Lincoln said it brought
the whole membership to the meeting.

John Larson Given a Surprise Party
on Occasion of Birthday Anniv-

Friends led John Larson, popular
merchant, to the home of James Peterson in Southeast Brainerd. Mr.
Larson was 60 years young that day
and he was reminded of the fact when 10 people took possession of the house and captured Mr. Larson and
gave him numerous presents.

Refreshments were served and all
enjoyed a very pleasant evening.

Collision in Brainerd

Emil Zontelli drove to Verndale
Sunday accompanied by Mr. and Mrs.
Troctor, Henry Zontelli and Rodney fastenings. A little after 6 o'clock as they were coming through Brainerd
on Oak street, another car struck
them as they crossing a street. None
of the people in either car were injured, but the cars were both dam-
aged. The injuries to Mr. Zontelli's
car did not affect the running of it,
and the party was not detained very
long. The other car lost a wheel
and was otherwise damaged.—Iron-

Auto Skids and Out Go Bandits and Bank Loot.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Four auto bandits
who robbed William Gronemann,
bank messenger, of $3,200, had not
counted on the elements.

Their green touring car skidded
across Diversey parkway, made shippers by rams, and crashed into a curb-
stone at Lincoln street, throwing
them out.

One was caught and beaten by several citizens, and the others fled, leaving the booty in the machine.

The prisoner gave the name of Edward Newberg.

BATTLESHIP BIDS ARE BELOW LIMIT

Washington, Oct. 26.—Bids for the
four new battleships Colorado, Mary-
land, Washington and West Virginia
were opened at the navy department.

While all of the tenders show the
heavy increase in prices due to the
abnormal conditions of the shipbuild-
ing industry, they were within the department's limit of cost and it is virtually certain that all four ships will
be awarded to private concerns.

Prices for the battleships quoted
ranged from $10,000,000 to $11,375,
000, as against the department's
limit for hull and machinery of $11,
500,000. A study of the bids is now
in progress and awards will be made
only after a careful review of the
modifications proposed by every bidder has been made.

It is believed, however, that the Fore River Shipbuilding company,
Quincy, Mass., will get two of the big
ships and the Newport News Ship and Drydock company the other two.

CANADIAN STRIKE IS DECLARED OFF

Winnipeg, Oct. 26.—The strike of Canadian Pacific railroad employees,
set for Wednesday, was declared off,
an agreement satisfactory to both parties
having been reached.

"Settlement of the differences between the railroad and conductors
and their employers was reached after
an eleven-hour conference between
representatives of both sides.
Adjustment of the dispute averts a
walkout of about 8,000 workmen, who
were demanding concessions in working hours and wages.

The federal order recalling the
strike order was sent out, but details
of the conference at which the strike
was averted were not given out.

Canada and is en route to England,
according to word received here.

Salt is returning to join his regim-

ceive a commission in the Canadian

Government officials are worried by
his departure, as he was expected to

THE HOUSEMAIDS' UNION

In Pittsfield, Mass., the servant girls have organized a union. The girls used to work for $5 a week, and a ten-hour day. The movement is expected to spread to other Massachusetts cities, including Boston.

Regarding the wages, there may be a difference of opinion. Servant girls' incomes at present average better than those of girls in most other occupations, when to their wages are added the value of the accompanying board and lodging. But their working time is a different matter. There is hardly another occupation in which either men or women are required to work for such long periods. An average of twelve hours a day for a seven-day week is nothing unusual or a housemaid. And not only are the hours long, but they are indefinite. Servant girls in most homes can seldom know for certain that they will have any particular hours for their own affairs. Even if their work is not hard, they are subject almost all the time, day or night, to the needs or whims of their employers.

It is this fact, even more than the supposed social discrimination against domestic servants, that makes it more and more difficult to find enough honest housemaids to supply the demand. And viewed in this light, servants as a class plainly deserve all the money they can get as long as their working-time is unregulated.

But is there any reason why the hours of domestic servants should not be made shorter and more definite? Many mistresses will insist that it's impossible but it is done in Norway, Sweden and other countries. And it seems to work well enough. Why can't it work in America? In most cases it's merely a question of the employer systematizing the activities of her household and arranging a definite working schedule and respecting her servant's rights. There are probably few homes where it is necessary for a servant to work more than ten hours a day, if mistress and maid will only get together to make such a system workable.

USING OSTRICH SKINS

The poor old ostrich with his head in the sand seems to be in grave danger of having his very skin taken from his back. Some one has discovered that ostrich skin makes excellent handbags, purses, slippers and all sorts of leather goods.

Just after tanning, the hide is about twice as thick as a goat skin. The fiber is not interwoven as in the skins of most quadrupeds, but lies in separate layers. This makes it very easy to strip off the layers by hand in order to get the required thickness. The skins are strong and can be had in various colors, so their use for novelty leather goods is practically unlimited.

At a recent exhibition in Cape Town, South Africa, thirty or forty skins were shown which had been properly tanned and cured. The tanner believes that there is a fortune in the business for any man willing to do the necessary work to create a market and then keep it supplied. Ostrich hides have been very cheap during the past eighteen months. But people who know say they will not remain so. Now is the time for the enterprising man to exploit ostrich skin manufactures. Perhaps, in time, the ostrich hide may become as important as the ostrich plume has been to the fashionable lady's wardrobe.

ISSUES OF CAMPAIGN

BY GEO. W. AUTHIER,
(Minneapolis Tribune)

Mexico cannot be erased from the issues of this campaign. It is the one outstanding blot in the recent history of the country, and must remain an element of danger to the American people for many years to come. It is the most eloquent commentary on the absurd claim that "Wilson kept us out of war." We have engaged in three wars with Mexico as a result of the application of the policy for which is claimed the credit of "keeping the country out of war." By the application of this policy Mexico has been turned into anarchy, and for the very reason that the same policy nearly precipitated us into the European war. It has been a policy of meddling interference, of shuffling execution, completely vitiated by the fact clearly understood by the Mexicans, that the policy would not be backed with firmness.

In the European situation the same policy resulted in the violation of neutral rights by the allied powers, and in the inauguration of the submarine campaign by Germany. That policy invited a situation from which we were saved only by good judgment of the German government which withdrew from a critical position when public opinion in this country demanded a show of firmness on the part of the American government which could silence the resentment of a people finding their government in a position from which it was humiliating to withdraw, and into which it would never have entered had it been confronted with the same policy of firmness which it eventually met.

In Mexico there is no government. What government there was the meddling policy of the administration utterly destroyed. In the minds of the Mexican people who follow the leadership of Carranza and Villa, and whom Secretary of War Baker has so unflinchingly compared with the patriots of Washington's army, there is no conception of the power of the United States; they fear Texas, but imagine if they could once get beyond Texas they could destroy the hated gringos. Firmness and prestige are the elements they respect. They sense the absence of firmness and rejoice in the loss of American prestige.

Although declaring the Mexicans would not be interfered with the executive at Washington determined to get rid of Huerta. No one has ever entered a brief in defense of Huerta but with other Mexican leaders, Huerta's record compared favorably. It is not the custom of governments to go behind the record, and to do so necessarily consists of direct interference. It was the business of Mexicans to decide whether or not Huerta should remain in power. It was not our business, unless the American government had decided upon positive interference.

John Lind was sent to Mexico with a mission of eliminating Huerta. The president's policy was described as one aimed to prevent the assumption of power in latin republics by violence. This appeared to be sound policy in itself, even though it did not square with the policy of non-interference, but the administration straightway contradicted itself again in the case of Benevides in Peru, and of Zamora in Haiti. Death and violence attended the accession to power of Benevides. It occurred while the negotiations with Huerta were pending, but the recognition of Benevides came so swiftly that diplomats who were watching the situation from Mexico were dazed by its celerity. The elimination of Huerta was attended with the attack and occupation of Vera Cruz—the first war the administration kept us out of. What ever may have been the character of Huerta, he was the one salvation of the Mexican situation. With Huerta gone anarchy reigned. Then followed more meddling interference in the face of the declared policy of non-interference. Villa was first exalted, only to find himself betrayed at the time of his attack on Agua Prieta when he found that Carranza troops had been permitted to travel in box cars through the United States, in order to reinforce the Carranza garrison at that point. The administration had commenced to play with Carranza. Villa was shut off from his supply of munitions, while Carranza was given carte-blanche to obtain them. Villa retaliated by the massacre at Santa Ysabel, and the raid on Columbus. These precipitated the most humiliating chapter in the series of Mexican incidents. While at peace with Mexico, and still determined on a policy of non-interference, Pershing's expedition, made up of the entire mobile army of the United States, all that had been prepared at a time when the "world was on fire" was shoved into the center of northern Mexico. Carranza, the latest pet of the American government denied the American troops the use of his railroads. Stretched in an ever thinning line from his base Pershing was obliged to rely upon automobiles for this supply train were being purchased. As in the case of the threatened railroad strike, the government had been caught "unprepared." Before the expedition could be started Villa had plenty of time to make his escape. Although in the possession of the most thorough information coming from Mexico, Washington had blindly refused to see the threat of invasion. In this respect the government was also "unprepared."

The expedition culminated in the Carranza attack on American troops at Parral, followed by the additional massacre of troops at Carrizal, and air. Carranza issued his famous order in the tragic deaths of Boyd and Adair that the American troops could move in only one direction, and that to the north. They could not move south, east or west. In the face of this threat Pershing's forces gradually contracted their lines. While in the anomalous position of occupying the territory of a country with which the American government is at peace the tedious negotiations with the Carranza representatives were commenced at New London. Some form of settlement, or prospect of settlement was essential to the democratic campaign management, in order to furnish a setting for the ironical fiction "Wilson kept us out of war."

In the meantime Mexicans are starving, and any objection to the arbitrary rule of Carranza is met with a ceremony which includes a stone wall and a firing squad as its setting. It has been publicly stated, that during the past two years 80% of the children born in Mexico have died before reaching the age of one year from starvation, or associated causes. The militia of the United States has been called upon to do police duty, a duty which ought to be the job of the regular army. If there only were a regular army. Those familiar with the Mexican situation insist that Carranza can never restore order in the country.

Not only has Mexico been turned into a shambles, not only has American property been destroyed, and Americans murdered and subjected to treatment even worse than that, but a continuing danger has been thrust upon the American people. European powers are not so averse to protecting the property of their nationals. France has already submitted a bill for enormous damages. The Monroe Doctrine places upon the American government the responsibility of protecting foreign property, or paying for it if destroyed. The close of the European war will give these governments the opportunity to press their claims. Not only has the administration not kept us out of war in Mexico, but threatens us with complications of the gravest kind in the settlement of the problems which the Mexican policy has precipitated.

The Russian Prince
has Dog Playmate

BY WM. PHILIP SIMMS,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

(Note—Following is the third of a series of five articles by Simms, giving a close up of Russian royalty and the way of life and work at imperial army headquarters. This series concludes Mr. Simms' special assignment to Russia and he has now returned to France.)

Imperial Headquarters, Russian Army, Oct. 3 (By Mail)—Every dog that is a dog is by nature ambitious to own a boy. Here is the story of Joy, the dog that owns the boy who will one day rule Russia.

Even now Joy isn't much to look at, being a smallish, pepper-and-mustard, coarse haired fellow with a short, funny tail that never stops wagging. So what must he have been before he adopted the boy grand duke, the 12 year old son of the emperor? His pedigree was evidently pretty democratic and he had no recollection whatever of ever having seen any dog exactly like himself.

But Joy was a regular dog for all that. He was determined to get himself a boy some day so he was constantly looking over the lads he met as he strayed around town. The war made times hard and picking was never easy, but Joy always kept cheerful despite the housewives' habit of scraping the bones cleaner and cleaner as the days went by.

Suddenly there was a big stir. Grand general headquarters of the Russian army was moving to town, whatever that meant, and shortly Joy found things picking up. The troopers always had pieces of meat to throw his way, and his hunger became less worrisome.

Then he found his boy, in a park. He was the most wonderful human being the dog had ever seen. He had on a lovely uniform with a row of medals on his chest. He had a jack-knife too and was whittling on a whist. Instantly the pup's mind was made up: He would own that boy if it was the last thing he ever did in his life.

"Bow-wow-wow!" he barked to call attention to himself. To display his talents somewhat and further interest the lad, he opened his big red mouth into a wide, moist grin and squatted gracefully on the ground.

The boy whistled and snapped his fingers invitingly. Joy saw he was making headway so he displayed himself further. Leaping up he began to run rings about the boy, ki-yi-for all he was worth.

"Here! Here!" the boy commanded, but Joy kept up his antics, running, dodging, leaping and stopping very suddenly only to recommence more violently than ever.

"Here you pup! What are you doing? Come here, will you?" The boy was imperative and Joy felt he must not overdo the thing. So he came to a quick panting stop right in front of the lad, his mouth still wide open, his tongue dripping.

"Chase that!" the boy commanded, throwing his whip-stock down the driveway some distance. Joy went after it so fast his feet slid on the ground when he tried to stop at the stick. He fetched it back, his heart big with the joy of serving.

Thus the two played for an hour. They boy was already calling the dog Joy, because of his eternal smile, and the mongrel was happy as a king. Never had he had such a good time before with anybody, so when a big man wearing a sailor's uniform came out of a two-story house near by and called the lad "Your Imperial Highness" and his His Majesty was waiting inside, it never occurred to the dog to stop behind. He followed the lad to the house.

At the door they would have stopped Joy, but the lad would not have it so. So the two together were admitted into the presence of the czar, the lad's father.

At first there was a remonstrance. It was all right to have a dog, but a clean dog, a dog somebody knew something about. But being a regular boy, the Grand Duke Alexis Nikolaevich, stood up for his new found playmate, and won his point.

So it is that Joy is now a member of the family. From a pauper dog he has become a prince-dog and he doesn't seem to mind it in the least. Only there are times when he is sorely troubled and really puzzled in mind. When his boy is called into the class room every morning they invariably and inexorably shut him, Joy, outside.

When Joy strolls out of doors in time to follow the emperor to the door of the staff building, he is again rebuffed.

At lunch time, he had to eat all by himself in the kitchen. He doesn't understand these things.

So even Joy, who owns the finest boy in all Russia, has his troubles.

Not being born to it, he can't get used to the ways of convention.

Perhaps that is why Joy has acquired his comical look of overhauling inquiry, mixed as it is with unquenchable mirth. He is probably wondering in his canine way just what has happened to him. And he can never quite make it all out.

Ford's Women Workers Put on Men's Pay Basis.

Long Branch, N. J., Oct. 26.—Henry Ford, the automobile manufacturer, announced after a conference with President Wilson that as the result of an "inspiring talk" he had with the president two weeks ago he had established the women workers in his plants on the same pay basis as the men.

Mr. Ford came here to show the president advertisements supporting the Wilson administration which he plans to have published prior to the election.

Masked Men Attack Girl.

Duluth, Oct. 26.—Masked with handkerchiefs and displaying revolvers, two masked men entered the home of Michael Gemple, ransacked the house, attacked Gemple's sixteen-year-old daughter Marie, after gagging and binding her, placed her limp body on a pile of clothing, to which they set fire and escaped, according to the story told by the girl to the police.

THE HOUSEMAIDS' UNION

In Pittsfield, Mass., the servant girls have organized a union. The girls used to work for $5 a week, and a ten-hour day. The movement is expected to spread to other Massachusetts cities, including Boston.

Regarding the wages, there may be a difference of opinion. Servant girls' incomes at present average better than those of girls in most other occupations, when to their wages are added the value of the accompanying board and lodging. But their working time is a different matter. There is hardly another occupation in which other men or women are required to work for such long periods. An average of twelve hours a day for a seven-day week is nothing unusual or a housemaid. And not only are the hours long, but they are indefinite. Servant girls in most homes can seldom know for certain that they will have any particular hours for their own affairs. Even if their work is not hard, they are subject almost all the time, day or night, to the needs or whims of their employers.

It is this fact, even more than the supposed social discrimination against domestic servants, that makes it more and more difficult to find enough honest housemaids to supply the demand. And viewed in this light, servants as a class plainly deserve all the money they can get as long as their working-time is unregulated.

But is there any reason why the hours of domestic servants should not be made shorter and more definite? Many mistresses will insist that it is impossible but it is done in Norway, Sweden and other countries. And it seems to work well enough. Why can't it work in America? In most cases it's merely a question of the employer systematizing the activities of her household and arranging a definite working schedule and expecting her servant's rights. There are probably few homes where it is necessary for a servant to work more than ten hours a day. If mistress and maid will only get together to make such a system workable.

ger of having his very skin taken from his back. Some one has discovered that ostrich skin makes excellent handbags, purses, slippers and all sorts of leather goods.

Just after tanning, the hide is about twice as thick as a goat skin. The fiber is not interwoven as in the skins of most quadrupeds, but lies in separate layers. This makes it very easy to strip off the layers by hand in order to get the required thickness. The skins are strong and can be had in various colors, so their use for novelty leather goods is practically unlimited.

At a recent exhibition in Cape Town, South Africa, thirty or forty skins were shown which had been properly tanned and cured. The tanner believes that there is a fortune in the business for any man willing to do the necessary work to create a market and then keep it supplied. Ostrich hides have been very cheap during the past eighteen months. But people who know say they will not remain so. Now is the time for the enterprising man to exploit ostrich skin manufactures. Perhaps, in time, the ostrich hide may become as important as the ostrich plume has been to the fashionable lady's wardrobe.

ISSUES OF CAMPAIGN
BY GEO. W. AUTHIER,
(Minneapolis Tribune)

Mexico cannot be erased from the issues of this campaign. It is the one outstanding blot in the recent history of the country, and must remain an element of danger to the American people for many years to come. It is the most eloquent commentary on the absurd claim that "Wilson kept us out of war." We have engaged in three wars with Mexico as a result of the application of the policy for which is claimed the credit of "keeping the country out of war." By the application of this policy Mexico has been turned into anarchy, and for the very reason that the same policy nearly precipitated us into the European war. It has been a policy of meddling interference, of shuffling execution, completely vitiated by the fact clearly understood by the Mexicans, that the policy would not be backed with firmness.

In the European situation the same policy resulted in the violation of neutral rights by the allied powers, and in the inauguration of the submarine campaign by Germany. That policy invited a situation from which we were saved only by good judgment of the German government which withdrew from a critical position when public opinion in this country demanded a show of firmness on the part of the American government which could silence the resentment of a people finding their government in a position from which it was humiliating to withdraw, and into which it would never have entered had it been confronted with the same policy of firmness which it eventually met.

In Mexico there is no government. What government there was the meddling policy of the administration utterly destroyed. In the minds of the Mexican people who follow the leadership of Carranza and Villa, and whom Secretary of War Baker has so unblushingly compared with the patriots of Washington's army, there is no conception of the power of the United States; they fear Texas, but imagine if they could once get beyond Texas they could destroy the hated gringos. Firmness and prestige are the elements they respect. They sense the absence of firmness and rejoice in the loss of American prestige.

Although declaring the Mexicans would not be interfered with the executive at Washington determined to get rid of Huerta. No one has ever entered a brief in defense of Huerta but with other Mexican leaders, Huerta's record compared favorably. It is not the custom of governments to go behind the record, and to do so necessarily consists of direct interference. It was the business of Mexicans to decide whether or not Huerta should remain in power. It was not our business, unless the American government had decided upon positive interference.

John Lind was sent to Mexico with a mission of eliminating Huerta. The president's policy was described as one aimed to prevent the assumption of power in latin republics by violence. This appeared to be sound policy in itself, even though it did not square with the policy of non-interference, but the administration straightway contradicted itself again in the case of Benevides in Peru, and of Zamora in Haiti. Death and violence attended the accession to power of Benevides. It occurred while the negotiations with Huerta were pending, but the recognition of Benevides came so swiftly that diplomats who were watching the situation from Mexico were dazed by its celerity. The elimination of Huerta was attended with the attack and occupation of Vera Cruz—the first war the administration kept us out of. Whatever may have been the character of Huerta, he was the one salvation of the Mexican situation. With Huerta gone anarchy reigned. Then followed more meddling interference in the face of the declared policy of non-interference. Villa was first exalted, only to find himself betrayed at the time of his attack on Agua Prieta when he found that Carranza troops had been permitted to travel in box cars through the United States, in order to reinforce the Carranza garrison at that point. The administration had commenced to play with Carranza. Villa was shut off from his supply of munitions, while Carranza was given carte-blanche to obtain them. Villa retaliated by the massacre at Santa Ysabel, and the raid on Columbus. These precipitated the most humiliating chapter in the series of Mexican incidents. While at peace with Mexico, and still determined on a policy of non-interference, Pershing's expedition, made up of the entire mobile army of the United States, all that had been prepared at a time when the "world was on fire" was shoved into the center of northern Mexico. Carranza, the latest pet of the American government denied the American troops the use of his railroads. Stretched in an ever thinning line from his base Pershing was obliged to rely upon automobiles for this supply train were being purchased. As in the case of the threatened railroad strike, the government had been caught "unprepared." Before the expedition could be started Villa had plenty of time to make his escape. Although in the possession of the most thorough information coming from Mexico, Washington had blindly refused to see the threat of invasion. In this respect the government was also "unprepared."

The expedition culminated in the Carranza attack on American troops at Parral, followed by the additional massacre of troops at Carrizal, and air. Carranza issued his famous order in the tragic deaths of Boyd and Adair that the American troops could move in only one direction, and that to the north. They could not move south, east or west. In the face of this threat Pershing's forces gradually contracted their lines. While in the anomalous position of occupying the territory of a country with which the American government is at peace the tedious negotiations with the Carranza representatives were commenced at New London. Some form of settlement, or prospect of settlement was essential to the democratic campaign management, in order to furnish a setting for the ironical fiction "Wilson kept us out of war."

In the meantime Mexicans are starving, and any objection to the arbitrary rule of Carranza is met with a ceremony which includes a stone wall and a firing squad as its setting. It has been publicly stated, that during the past two years 80% of the children born in Mexico have died before reaching the age of one year from starvation, or associated causes. The militia of the United States has been called upon to do police duty, a duty which ought to be the job of the regular army, if there only were a regular army. Those familiar with the Mexican situation insist that Carranza can never restore order in the country.

Not only has Mexico been turned into a shambles, not only has American property been destroyed, and Americans murdered and subjected to treatment even worse than that, but a continuing danger has been thrust upon the American people. European powers are not so averse to protecting the property of their nationals. France has already submitted a bill for enormous damages. The Monroe Doctrine places upon the American government the responsibility of protecting foreign property, or paying for it if destroyed. The close of the European war will give these governments the opportunity to press their claims. Not only has the administration not kept us out of war in Mexico, but threatens us with complications of the gravest kind in the settlement of the problems which the Mexican policy has precipitated.

The Russian Prince has Dog Playmate

BY WM. PHILIP SIMMS,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

(Note—Following is the third of a series of five articles by Simms, giving a close up of Russian royalty and the way or life and work at imperial army headquarters. This series concludes Mr. Simms' special assignment to Russia and he has now returned to France.)

Imperial Headquarters, Russian Army, Oct. 3 (By Mail)—Every dog that is a dog is by nature ambitious to own a boy. Here is the story of Joy, the dog that owns the boy who will one day rule Russia.

Even now Joy isn't much to look at, being a smallish, pepper-and-mustard, coarse haired fellow with a short, funny tail that never stops wagging. So what must he have been before he adopted the boy grand duke, the 12 year old son of the emperor? His pedigree was evidently pretty democratic and he had no recollection whatever of ever having seen any dog exactly like himself.

But Joy was a regular dog for all that. He was determined to get himself a boy some day so he was constantly looking over the lads he met as he strayed around town. The war made times hard and picking was never easy, but Joy always kept cheerful despite the housewives' habit of scraping the bones cleaner and cleaner as the days went by.

Suddenly there was a big stir. Grand general headquarters of the Russian army was moving to town, whatever that meant, and shortly Joy found things picking up. The troopers always had pieces of meat to throw his way, and his hunger became less worrisome.

Then he found his boy, in a park. He was the most wonderful human being the dog had ever seen. He had on a lovely uniform with a row of medals on his chest. He had a jack-knife too and was whittling on a whistock. Instantly the pup's mind was made up: He would own that boy if it was the last thing he ever did in his life.

"Bow-wow-wow!" he barked to call attention to himself. To display his talents somewhat and further interest the lad, he opened his big red mouth into a wide, moist grin and squatted gracefully on the ground.

The boy whistled and snapped his fingers invitingly. Joy saw he was making headway so he displayed himself further. Leaping up he began to run rings about the boy, kiyi-kiyi for all he was worth.

"Here! Here!" the boy commanded, but Joy kept up his antics, running, dodging, leaping and stopping very suddenly only to recommence more violently than ever.

"Here you pup! What are you doing? Come here, will you?" The boy was imperative and Joy felt he must not overdo the thing. So he came to a quick panting stop right in front of the lad, his mouth still wide open, his tongue dripping.

"Chase that!" the boy commanded, throwing his whip-stock down the driveway some distance. Joy went after it so fast his feet slid on the ground when he tried to stop at the stick. He fetched it back, his heart big with the joy of serving.

Thus the two played for an hour. They boy was already calling the dog Joy, because of his eternal smile, and the mongrel was happy as a king. Never had he had such a good time before with anybody, so when a big man wearing a sailor's uniform came out of a two-story house near by and called the lad "Your Imperial Highness" and his His Majesty was waiting inside, it never occurred to the dog to stop behind. He followed the lad to the house.

At the door they would have stopped Joy, but the lad would not have it so. So the two together were admitted into the presence of the czar, the lad's father.

At first there was a remonstrance. It was all right to have a dog, but a clean dog, a dog somebody knew something about. But being a regular boy, the Grand Duke Alexis Nikolaevich, stood up for his new found playmate, and won his point.

So it is that Joy is now a member of the family. From a pauper dog he has become a prince-dog and he doesn't seem to mind it in the least. Only there are times when he is sorely troubled and really puzzled in mind. When his boy is called into the class room every morning they invariably and inexorably shut him, Joy, outside.

When Joy strolls out of doors in time to follow the emperor to the door of the staff building, he is again rebuffed.

At lunch time, he had to eat all by himself in the kitchen. He doesn't understand these things.

So even Joy, who owns the finest boy in all Russia, has his troubles.

Not being born to it, he can't get used to the ways of convention.

Perhaps that is why Joy has acquired his comical look of overhauling inquiry, mixed as it is with unquenchable mirth. He is probably wondering in his canine way just what has happened to him. And he can never quite make it all out.

Masked Men Attack Girl.

Duluth, Oct. 26.—Masked with handkerchiefs and displaying revolvers, two masked men entered the home of Michael Gempie, ransacked the house, attacked Gempie's sixteen-year-old daughter Marie, after gagging and binding her, placed her limp body on a pile of clothing, to which they set fire and escaped, according to the story told by the girl to the police.

Joyous Little Fleas Follow Everywhere

BY MARGARET MASON,
(Written for the United Press)

All the bugs are full of tricks
Down on Rio Bay
Folks are also full of ticks
On their jungle way.
Then to nearly drive 'em frantic
As they start to flea
Ant and tick cut up an tie
Ere they let 'em bee.

Rio De Janeiro, Sept. 26 (By Mail).—Brazil abounds in bugs human and otherwise. Joyous little fleas leap lightly from limb to limb. You may flee your bed but you'll not flee the flea. Strange as it may seem you won't find a tick in your bed though. The festive tick nests rather in the jungle. When you go mountain climbing, orchid hunting, or butterfly chasing you'd better watch out for ticks for you're sure to be covered with them. If you keep a watch on your wrist you'll find as many as sixty ticks a minute. I know a man personally who made this ticklish record.

Brazil is the happy hunting ground of the ant, relatively speaking. There are all sorts and conditions of ants, big, little, red, brown and black. A young American engineer told me of an ant experience he once had in the interior of the country. He stopped his horse to rest under a huge tree and when the horse stamped and pranced around he investigated. The whole ground seemed to be moving with a vast army of ants while up in the tree was another mass of them cutting the leaves in half and dropping them down to the ants below who carried them away. The young engineer said when he came back over this same road in a couple of hours the tree was stripped absolutely bare.

As can readily be seen ants are rather rough on vegetation and when they get in an orange grove they strip it in a single night.

Up in the interior the natives get even with the big fat ants by eating them. They roast them till they pop. This is considered a great delicacy and although I never tried any in this style I've had several small black ants served in my soup.

A meek little bug is one that starts in at the foot to get a toe hold or life. It burrows in under your toe nail and proceeds to lay eggs and establish a cosy little home in toto. An ingenious young Yankee who decided to leave one nesting in his toe till he got back to the U. S. A. where his doctor brother could do some research work only lost three of his toes as an outcome of his scientific enthusiasm.

A natty little gnat swarms around the lights down in the town until it gets tired. Then it sheds its wings and proceeds to eat up all the wooden furniture and household fixtures in sight. Native wood is just pie for it. A dining room suite is only a light lunch. That is why wood for finishing houses and making furniture is mostly imported here. This little insect has a great literary bent also and has been known to go through a complete set of Shakespeare in a single night.

Any thing in spiders from a teeny weeny one to a tarantula can be spied around Rio and there is an insect like our cricket only three times as large that serenades you madly in a great chorus when the night begins to fall. It is tobacco brown in color with a blunt head and has been christened "Cigaro" because by a wild stretch of the imagination it may be said to resemble a cigar butt. Three opal like jewels are set in its forehead. Other jeweled bugs are the many iridescent beetles that abound here. Of the legion of gorgeous butterflies one of black and scarlet is especially odd with a per cent figure 88 on each rear wing.

And yet with this great array of insect life of which I have only cited a paltry portion Rio doesn't need screens in its windows. It lacks the two greatest insect pests of the U. S. A., the house fly and the mosquito. Not but what it was formerly filthy but with this pernicious pair but the government got busy. They established a department of sanitary police who spend their time tracking mosquitoes to their lair and swatting flies. All water supplies are regularly inspected and no pools of still water allowed to collect anywhere hereabouts.

I saw a squad of these sanitary police in a patrol wagon the other day on the Avenida Rio Branco. They were all heavily equipped with guns and cartridge belts. I suppose they were going out to hunt mosquitoes.

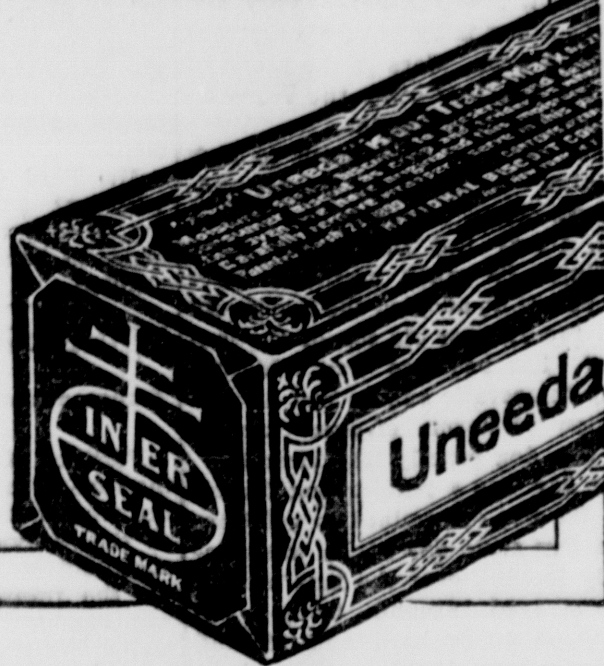

A Sermon on "Worry."
Here's a philosopher's sermon on "Worry," from an exchange:
"Never worry today; put it off until tomorrow, which never comes. Some people even beat that. They let the other fellow do all of the worrying."

NO better way to satisfy an enthusiastic appetite than with Uneeda Biscuit. A delightful food, as appetizing as it is nourishing and wholesome. Perfect baking, perfect protection, they come to you with oven-freshness.

TAG DAY IS OCTOBER 30

Citizens Asked to Contribute Generously That Day to Aid in Maintaining Visiting Nurse

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES SPONSOR

America Known as a Charitable Nation and City Should Not Fall Behind in Reputation

(Contributed)

The American nation is known throughout the world as a nation expressing itself in deeds of charity. If any great disaster occurs we are generally the first to start subscription lists to help the needy and the suffering.

It is also true not only with respect to the calls from other nations but especially is America proud of its spirit of charity manifested among its own people.

We are proud of the title "a charitable nation" and have a right to be.

The citizens of Brainerd will have an opportunity within a week to still maintain its part as a city belonging to a charitable nation.

October 30th will be Tag Day, and we are anxious to make it the biggest tag day ever held in the history of our city, not merely because we have pride as a city but because as a city we need a big tag day.

The Associated Charities of Brainerd is an organization that ought to have the backing of every loyal citizen. The "Man of Galilee" said in the first century that "the poor ye always have with you," and so far as we are concerned we can corroborate his words.

The fall and winter will soon be here and our needy must be cared for. The first principle of ordinary civilization demands that we care for the needy and the first principle of charity says "we must care for them."

As men and women belonging to a commonwealth of which we are justly proud we ought to count it a privilege to share with the unfortunate the blessings we have bestowed upon us.

The officers of the organization in a recent issue of the paper gave one of the best yearly reports we have ever had. They have worked faithfully and at times against great odds, but ever loyal to their country and city they have ministered to the needs of the poor in our city wisely and judiciously.

The contract of the present visiting nurse, Miss Puckering, ends October 31st. It is the plan of the organization to continue the services of a visiting nurse during the next year.

To do this they appeal to the generosity of our citizens. The amount collected in former years must be increased considerably in order to do the work efficiently.

Watch the papers for further information relative to tag day. Don't forget the date, Monday, October 30. Let's talk about it, boost it, and fall in line as a generous giver.

Baptist Young Peoples

The young peoples society of the First Baptist church will give a Halloween party at the home of Mrs. Albert Angel, 324 South Seventh street at 8 o'clock Friday evening. All young people are cordially invited to attend.

Joyous Little Fleas Follow Everywhere

BY MARGARET MASON.
(Written for the United Press)

All the bugs are full of tricks
Down on Rio Bay
Folks are also full of ticks
On their jungle way.
Then to nearly drive 'em frantic
As they start to flea
Ant and tick cut up an tic
Ere they let 'em bee.

Rio De Janeiro, Sept. 20 (By Mail)
—Brazil abounds in bugs human and otherwise. Joyous little fleas leap lightly from limb to limb. You may flee your bed but you'll not flee the flea. Strange as it may seem you won't find a tick in your bed though. The festive tick nests rather in the jungle. When you go mountain climbing, orchid hunting, or butterfly chasing you'd better watch out for ticks for you're sure to be covered with them. If you keep a watch on your wrist you'll find as many as sixty ticks a minute. I know a man personally who made this ticklish record.

Brazil is the happy hunting ground of the ant, relatively speaking. There are all sorts and conditions of ants, big, little, red, brown and black. A young American engineer told me of an ant experience he once had in the interior of the country. He stopped his horse to rest under a huge tree and when the horse stamped and pranced around he investigated. The whole ground seemed to be moving with a vast army of ants while up in the tree was another mass of them cutting the leaves in half and dropping them down to the ants below who carried them away. The young engineer said when he came back over this same road in a couple of hours the tree was stripped absolutely bare.

As can readily be seen ants are rather rough on vegetation and when they get in an orange grove they strip it in a single night.

Up in the interior the natives get even with the big fat ants by eating them. They roast them till they pop. This is considered a great delicacy and although I never tried any in this style I've had several small black ants served in my soup.

A meek little bug is one that starts in at the foot to get a toe hold or life. It burrows in under your toe nail and proceeds to lay eggs and establish a cosy little home in toto. An ingenious young Yankee who decided to leave one nesting in his toe till he got back to the U. S. A. where his doctor brother could do some research work only lost three of his toes as an outcome of his scientific enthusiasm.

A natty little gnat swarms around the lights down in the town until it gets tired. Then it sheds its wings and proceeds to eat up all the wooden furniture and household fixtures in sight. Native wood is just pie for it. A dining room suite is only a light lunch. That is why wood for finishing houses and making furniture is mostly imported here. This little insect has a great literary bent also and has been known to go through a complete set of Shakespeare in a single night.

Any thing in spiders from a teeny weeny one to a tarantula can be spied around Rio and there is an insect like our cricket only three times as large that serenades you madly in a great chorus when the night begins to fall. It is tobacco brown in color with a blunt head and has been christened "Cigaro" because by a wild stretch of the imagination it may be said to resemble a cigar butt. Three opal like jewels are set in its forehead. Other jeweled bugs are the many iridescent beetles that abound here. Of the legion of gorgeous butterflies one of black and scarlet is especially odd with a perfect figure 88 on each rear wing.

And yet with this great array of insect life of which I have only cited a paltry portion Rio doesn't need screens in its windows. It lacks the two greatest insect pests of the U. S. A., the house fly and the mosquito. Not but what it was formerly filthy with this pernicious pair but the government got busy. They established a department of sanitary police who spend their time tracking mosquitos to their lair and swatting flies. All water supplies are regularly inspected and no pools of still water allowed to collect anywhere hereabouts.

I saw a squad of these sanitary police in a patrol wagon the other day on the Avenida Rio Branco. They were all heavily equipped with guns and cartridge belts. I suppose they were going out to hunt mosquitos.

TAG DAY IS OCTOBER 30

Citizens Asked to Contribute Generously That Day to Aid in Maintaining Visiting Nurse

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES SPONSOR

America Known as a Charitable Nation and City Should Not Fall Behind in Reputation
(Contributed)

The American nation is known throughout the world as a nation expressing itself in deeds of charity. If any great disaster occurs we are generally the first to start subscription lists to help the needy and the suffering.

It is also true not only with respect to the calls from other nations but especially is America proud of its spirit of charity manifested among its own people.

We are proud of the title "a charitable nation" and have a right to be.

The citizens of Brainerd will have an opportunity within a week to still maintain its part as a city belonging to a charitable nation.

October 30th will be Tag Day, and we are anxious to make it the biggest tag day ever held in the history of our city, not merely because we have pride as a city but because as a city we need a big tag day.

The Associated Charities of Brainerd is an organization that ought to have the backing of every loyal citizen. The "Man of Galilee" said in the first century that "the poor ye always have with you," and so far as we are concerned we can corroborate his words.

The fall and winter will soon be here and our needy must be cared for. The first principle of ordinary civilization demands that we care for the needy and the first principle of charity says "we must care for them."

As men and women belonging to a commonwealth of which we are justly proud we ought to count it a privilege to share with the unfortunate the blessings we have bestowed upon us.

The officers of the organization in a recent issue of the paper gave one of the best yearly reports we have ever had. They have worked faithfully and at times against great odds, but ever loyal to their country and city they have ministered to the needs of the poor in our city wisely and judiciously.

The contract of the present visiting nurse, Miss Puckering, ends October 31st. It is the plan of the organization to continue the services of a visiting nurse during the next year. To do this they appeal to the generosity of our citizens. The amount collected in former years must be increased considerably in order to do the work efficiently.

Watch the papers for further information relative to tag day. Don't forget the date, Monday, October 30. Let's talk about it, boost it, and fall in line as a generous giver.

COUNTY ATTORNEY TO SHOW CAUSE

Case Brought by H. K. Dimmick, of Cuyuna, to Compel Him to Proceed Against School Officials

HE CHARGES IRREGULARITIES

Dimmick in His Complaint Makes Charges Against Patrick Kealy, R. W. Wedgewood, Wm. Ham

An order to show cause has been issued against the county attorney, S. F. Alderman, by H. K. Dimmick, a real estate man of Cuyuna, to compel the county official to proceed against Patrick Kealy, R. W. Wedgewood and Wm. Ham, charged by Dimmick with irregularities in the conduct of school affairs in district No. 104.

The petition alleges that Patrick Kealy was duly elected chairman of the district board, Wm. Ham clerk and R. W. Wedgewood treasurer.

Mr. Dimmick alleges that Kealy on July 24, 1913, made a contract with the school district and sold the district 1320 feet of lawn fence, one double gate, one single gate, a keg of staples, the bill amounting to $197.93, and an order for such payment, it is charged, was illegally issued.

On July 23, 1913, order No. 373 was issued for $47.95, on July 22, 1914 order No. 387 was issued for $95.14, being compensation for R. W. Wedgewood, treasurer, and these warrants, Dimmick asserts, were illegal because no vote was taken at the time.

On July 22, 1914, alleges Mr. Dimmick, order No. 386 was issued for $95.14 as compensation to Wm. Ham. This, says Mr. Dimmick, was illegal. True, a vote was taken, alleges Mr. Dimmick, but the order was issued in excess of that allowed by statute, which was $45.14.

Mr. Dimmick alleges that any school district clerk who illegally draws an order on a treasurer, any chairman or other officer attesting the order or any school treasurer paying the same, shall forfeit twice the amount of the order.

Mr. Dimmick complains that the county attorney refused to institute proceedings against the alleged delinquent school board officials.

A writ has been issued by Judge W. S. McClenahan against the county attorney to show cause at the hearing, November 8, as to why he has not proceeded against the school officials named to collect the forfeitures involved.

The county attorney, on the other hand, it is said, claims that Dimmick had himself started a civil action in the matter, claiming that the school district officials had allowed illegal claims and had issued orders in payment of the same.

The county attorney will proceed to Cuyuna within the next week or

BOPPEL ALLOWED TO FILE ANSWER

In the case of the Citizens State bank of Brainerd vs the Brainerd Brewing Co., Edward Boppel and Werner Hemstead, in which judgment was entered for the bank on two notes, Judge W. S. McClenahan, of the district court, on application of Attorney W. W. Bane, appearing for Mr. Boppel, has allowed the latter to answer.

The claim is made that Boppel's liability as an indorser did not exist, that a large part of the note has been paid.

The case now goes on the November calendar at this term of the district court.

so and investigate as to the truthfulness of the charges made by Dimmick, and if found as alleged, will push the matter through at this term of court.

BRAINERD'S ODDEST STORIES TODAY

When the discussion was up in the Chamber of Commerce about calling on the governor to have a special session of the legislature to provide means for giving soldiers at the front a chance to vote, C. A. Albright, disturbed the equanimity of the proceedings by inquiring:

"Wonder if those are democrats or republicans at the front."

These are the happy days when a farmer gets $1.50 or more a bushel for skinny, chicken feed wheat, and no questions asked; $1.25 and more a bushel for potatoes and nobody sorting out the marbles; while cabbage heads have elevated to such a patriotic plane that down in the cities they only make high-toned salad out of the heads and nobody can afford to convert them into sauer kraut.

"Es Ist Verboten" in Germany, which means it's prohibited, to waste potato peelings. Some rule will soon hold in this country. You don't find any grocer nowadays jamming a potato into the kerosene can nozzle to serve as a makeshift cork. The can goes uncorked.

There is one relic of the pioneer days that survives in Brainerd and that is the old fashioned charivari, pronounced "shiveries." Some folks dread getting married when they think of the boiler plate, sleigh bell harmony that awaits them.

Farmers say travel on Thirteenth street is increasing so much that the roadway looks like a "White Way" in motion.

That mallard duck which pretty Margaret Quinn found and took home and which was the object of an inordinate amount of petting and feeding, turned up its toes this morning and died from the effect of too much kindness. Accustomed to hustle for his own supplies, the mallard died from over eating and lack of exercise.

ECHO OF COLLISION

Marion Cunningham Hurt in Crash. Sues N. C. Anderson, of Crosby, for $5,334.70

Marion Cunningham, of Crosby, has sued N. C. Anderson for $5,334.70 alleging this as damages sustained in the collision occurring May 13 of this year along the Crosby-Deerwood road when he asserts Anderson came along in his automobile on the wrong side of the road at a 40 mile an hour clip and smashed into Cunningham's motorcycle just as he was leaving his front yard.

In the mixup, Cunningham alleges his left leg was broken and ankle and knee when the car passed over him. His right leg, arms and back were bruised and injured. He alleges he was unable to work six months since the accident. His doctor bill, he alleges in his complaint, amounted to $150.

Cunningham further alleges that he was earning $3.02 1/2 a day firing an engine at the mines near Crosby. He claims he lost in wages $84.70. His special damages, he asserts, amount to $234.70. The general damages he claims amount to $5,000. Coupled with this is the additional damage he claims incurred by the motorcycle which was smashed $100 worth.

The case will be heard at this term of the district court.

Crookston Votes for Raising the Tax Levy

Crookston, Oct. 25—At a special election yesterday Crookston voted to adopt the charter amendment authorizing an increase in the tax levy from 8 to 15 mills for the general funds of the municipality. At two previous elections within a year the amendment failed to gain the required 60 per cent of all votes cast.

The amendment providing for the increase, which passed yesterday by a vote of 2 to 1, will enable the city council to arrange for installing a system of street lighting. A lack of funds has stopped this improvement.

The first election on the question was held shortly after the city went "dry" and about $12,000 in liquor license money ceased to flow into the treasury. The vote was then conducted in connection with other balloting and failed to win the 60 per cent necessary.

In June the charter commission proposed five amendments including one providing for the mill levy increase and two relative to city printing and some road measures. The people again failed to indorse the action of the commission.

Since the last election the city has been without street lights because of a lack of funds. This condition has figured largely in the quiet pre-election campaign that was carried on.

COUNTY ATTORNEY TO SHOW CAUSE

Case Brought by H. K. Dimmick, of Cuyuna, to Compel Him to Proceed Against School Officials

HE CHARGES IRREGULARITIES

Dimmick in His Complaint Makes Charges Against Patrick Kealy, R. W. Wedgewood, Wm. Ham

An order to show cause has been issued against the county attorney, S. F. Alderman, by H. K. Dimmick, a real estate man of Cuyuna, to compel the county official to proceed against Patrick Kealy, R. W. Wedgewood and Wm. Ham, charged by Dimmick with irregularities in the conduct of school affairs in district No. 104.

The petition alleges that Patrick Kealy was duly elected chairman of the district board, Wm. Ham clerk and R. W. Wedgewood treasurer.

Mr. Dimmick alleges that Kealy on July 24, 1913, made a contract with the school district and sold the district 1320 feet of lawn fence, one double gate, one single gate, a keg of staples, the bill amounting to $197.93, and an order for such payment, it is charged, was illegally issued.

On July 23, 1913, order No. 275 was issued for $47.95, on July 22, 1914 order No. 387 was issued for $95.14, being compensation for R. W. Wedgewood, treasurer, and these warrants, Dimmick asserts, were illegal because no vote was taken at the time.

On July 22, 1914, alleges Mr. Dimmick, order No. 386 was issued for $95.14 as compensation to Wm. Ham. This, says Mr. Dimmick, was illegal. True, a vote was taken, alleges Mr. Dimmick, but the order was issued in excess of that allowed by statute, which was $45.14.

Mr. Dimmick alleges that any school district clerk who illegally draws an order on a treasurer, any chairman or other officer attesting the order or any school treasurer paying the same, shall forfeit twice the amount of the order.

Mr. Dimmick complains that the county attorney refused to institute proceedings against the alleged delinquent school board officers.

A writ has been issued by Judge W. S. McClenahan against the county attorney to show cause at the hearing, November 5, as to why he has not proceeded against the school officials named to collect the forfeitures involved.

The county attorney, on the other hand, it is said, claims that Dimmick had himself started a civil action in the matter, claiming that the school district officers had allowed illegal claims and had issued orders in payment of the same.

The county attorney will proceed to Cuyuna within the next week or

BOPPEL ALLOWED TO FILE ANSWER

In the case of the Citizens State bank of Brainerd vs the Brainerd Brewing Co., Edward Boppel and Werner Hemstead, in which judgment was entered for the bank on two notes, Judge W. S. McClenahan, of the district court, on application of Attorney W. W. Bane, appearing for Mr. Boppel, has allowed the latter to answer.

The claim is made that Boppel's liability as an indorser did not exist, that a large part of the note has been paid.

The case now goes on the November calendar at this term of the district court.

so and investigate as to the truthfulness of the charges made by Dimmick, and if found as alleged, will push the matter through at this term of court.

BRAINERD'S OLDEST STORIES TODAY

When the discussion was up in the Chamber of Commerce about calling on the governor to have a special session of the legislature to provide means for giving soldiers at the front a chance to vote, C. A. Albright, disturbed the equanimity of the proceedings by inquiring: "Wonder if those are democrats or republicans at the front."

These are the happy days when a farmer gets $1.50 or more a bushel for skinny, chicken feed wheat, and no questions asked; $1.25 and more a bushel for potatoes and nobody sorting out the marbles; while cabbage heads have elevated to such a patriotic plane that down in the cities they only make high-toned salad out of the heads and nobody can afford to convert them into sauer kraut.

"Es Ist Verboten" in Germany, which means it's prohibited, to waste potato peelings. Some rule will soon hold in this country. You don't find any grocer nowadays jamming a potato into the kerosene can nozzle to serve as a makeshift cork. The can goes unworked.

There is one relic of the pioneer days that survives in Brainerd and that is the old-fashioned chairvair, pronounced "shiverree." Some folks dread getting married when they think of the boiler plate, sleigh bell harmony that awaits them.

Farmers say travel on Thirteenth street is increasing so much that the roadway looks like a "White Way" in motion.

That mallard duck which pretty Margaret Quinn found and took home and which was the object of an inordinate amount of petting and feeding, turned up its toes this morning and died from the effect of too much kindness. Accustomed to hustle for his own supplies, the mallard died from over eating and lack of exercise.

ECHO OF COLLISION

Marion Cunningham Hurt in Crash, Sues N. C. Anderson, of Crosby, for $5,334.70

Marion Cunningham, of Crosby, has sued N. C. Anderson for $5,334.70 alleging this as damages sustained in the collision occurring May 13 of this year along the Crosby-Deerwood road when he asserts Anderson came along in his automobile on the wrong side of the road at a 40 mile an hour clip and smashed into Cunningham's motorcycle just as he was leaving his front yard.

In the mixup, Cunningham alleges his left leg was broken between ankle and knee when the car passed over him. His right leg, arms and back were bruised and injured. He alleges he was unable to work six months since the accident. His doctor bill, he alleges in his complaint, amounted to $150.

Cunningham further alleges that he was earning $3.92 1/2 a day firing an engine at the mines near Crosby. He claims he lost in wages $84.70. His special damages, he asserts, amount to $234.70. The general damages he claims amount to $5,000. Coupled with this is the additional damage he claims incurred by the motorcycle which was smashed $100 worth.

The case will be heard at this term of the district court.

Dario Resta's Record Thriller

BY HAMILTON.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

New York, Oct. 26.—Dario Resta, the ferocious, devil-may-care Italian driver who has hogged American auto track records and stuck his fingers into the prize money of every country where they tear around tracks in high-powered automobiles, is just taking a breathing spell.

Resta, says he is getting ashamed to take the money and has promised not to enter every cent in the future. He's going to ship a few to give the other boys a chance.

Resta hurried into the limelight back in 1915 when he hit the high spots in New York. Prior to that he had done a few fancy tricks for the natives in France, Italy and England, and when he hove in view of the Statue of Liberty he was well fortified with a bank roll even if he hadn't scattered records on this side.

From Italy Resta snorted his intrepid way into England and he immediately dare-deviled his way to victory in three of England's highest class events. That was in a Mercedes, but he forsook his colors to climb a Sunbeam. This had no effect on his neck-breaking speed, for he went right on smashing records and won the Grand Prix at Amiens, just before the present European war broke out.

In 1915 he again began to dream of American gold and hid himself back to the shores of the land of plenty, peace and gold. He was in New York just a week and then he beat it for San Francisco, where he proceeded to win two events right in succession, the Vanderbilt cup and the grand prize, something unheard of up to that time.

Then he went to Indianapolis and engaged in one of the fiercest automobile races ever run and forced De Palma, another Italian, to the very limit to win. At Chicago he won the 500-mile event and established a new record.

Then they pulled off a challenge race at Chicago and Resta again nailed his colors to the mast first.

This year has just been one victory after another, including the big events at Chicago and Indianapolis.

In the championship series of races at Chicago De Palma was beaten in every event by the speedy Italian.

Connie Mack Sours on College Talent

Connie Mack has evidently soured on college talent and is now intent on building up his new machine with minor league material. Mack has been very fortunate in the past in grabbing good men from the institutions of higher learning, but the rabbit's foot has evidently quit working.

While many of the diamond stars have been rar-rar boys, comparatively few get by the big show without minor league experience. The big leaders may sneer at the "bushes", and the "ticks," but it is a safe bet that the great majority of the stars of tomorrow are now to be found in the minors and not in the halls of learning.

Graney Could not Feaze Bullet Joe

"What'll you give me, Joe, if I don't crack out a hit?" said Jack Graney when he came to bat in the ninth inning of Bush's recent no-hit game. O'Neill and Coleman, the latter batting for Coumbe, had both struck out, each taking a healthy but fruitless swing at the third strike. Graney alone remained between Bush and fame.

"You know, this means a lot to you, Joe," continued Jack in his bantering way, "and you ought to slip me a nice piece of change if I help you out. What do you say?"

Bush simply grinned, set himself to his task in a more determined manner than ever before, and forced Graney to pop to McInnis. Jack was the first to congratulate Joe.

The weather has warmed up sufficiently to melt the snow and the boys of the B. H. S. are at it again, hot and heavy.

About two and a half teams, reported for the work-out Monday night and the first team found themselves up against a stiff proposition. The majority of eligible boys in high school have promised to be out for practice every night this week and help the boys beat Little Falls.

A large delegation of Little Falls fans is expected and a good game is assured. In a speech before all the interested football fans, Mr. Denison stated that only one or two men played at Little Falls. This statement was endorsed and verified by Coach Mahlum.

With a little hard work on the part of the members of the first squad and a lot of assistance from the rest of the boys and lots of enthusiasm from those who do not play we can develop the team that can suppress that "invasion" of Little Falls warriors.

Last Saturday Little Falls was the object of defeat at the hands of St. Cloud and next Saturday Brainerd can make the same object of them if they receive the support.

Brainerd has not been defeated on the home field by Little Falls since the year 1909 and there is no reason why we should let them do it this year. For six consecutive years we have withstood their advances on this field, why not make it seven?

As the boys have a game with St. Cloud slated for November 11 and as Little Falls has a pretty fair team we take it that Little Falls will make a good preparative issue to assist on the road to success against St. Cloud.

TEUTONS DEAL SWIFT BLOWS

Mackensen's Armies Work Hard From Three Points.

ATTACK MADLY AT VERDUN

Crown Prince Hurls Vicious Charges Against French Forces, but Fails to Regain Ground in Region of Haudremont and Douaumont.

London, Oct. 26.—From three points the Teutonic allies are working with feverish haste in an attempt to encompass Roumania—from the north-eastern and eastern borders of Transylvania and through Dobruja.

In the latter region and on the whole East Transylvanian front further inroads into King Ferdinand's territory have been made.

On the Northeast Transylvania front, however, in engagements with the Russians, they have been driven from the heights south of Dorna Watra.

Keeping up his drive in Dobruja, Field Marshal von Mackensen has brought his line well above the Constantza-Tchernavoda railway line, the right wing resting approximately on Tachaul, near the Black sea, twelve miles north of Constantza, and the left north of Tchernavoda, whence runs the only bridge across the Danube in this region.

Whether the Roumanians in their evacuation of Tchernavoda left intact the fourteen-mile bridge, which would be of immense strategic value to the Teutonic allies in a diversion toward Bucharest, has not been made known.

Following military precedent, despite the quickness of Mackensen's forward push, it probably was blown up or otherwise badly damaged.

Germans Gain in Transylvania.

Further ground on the Eastern Transylvania front on the Roumanian side of the Vulcan and Predeal passes has been given up to the Austro-Germans by the Roumanians, but, according to Bucharest, the Teutons east of the river Aluta, in Transylvania, have been driven northward, while the Uzulm and Oltuz valleys the Roumanians have made advances.

In the region of Verdun, where the French Tuesday made their spectacular drive over a wide front north and northeast of Verdun, they are still holding the ground gained, despite the vicious counter-attacks delivered particularly in the region of Haudremont and Douaumont. East of the Fumini wood and north of Shenols the French have gained further ground.

In the Austro-Italian theater also the artillery is doing the greater part of the work along the entire line of battle. The northern part of the Carso plateau is under a heavy bombardment.

LETTERS INDICATE AID TO U-BOATS

London, Oct. 26.—The following two letters, intercepted on their way to Germany, were made public here. The first from Max —, 641 East Eighth street, South Boston, and addressed to his brother, said:

"Dear Gustav: 'The Willehad sailed today. I am to stay here till the end of the war. The Willehad will act within the American three-mile limit as a telegraph station for submarines. It has four months' provisions aboard.'"

The second letter was from the captain of the Willehad, named Jachens, who wrote from New London to his sister in Germany:

"I rejoice I am now here as captain of the Willehad," he wrote. "I am here with the Willehad on a special mission. 'Later you will hear more from me. I rejoice I have done something for the Fatherland and that I still have more to do.'"

Acted as "Mother Ship."

Washington, Oct. 26.—There have been various rumors about the mission of the Willehad at New London, but government officials here, after investigation, have accepted as true the story it ventured to sea from Boston to act as "mother ship" for German merchant submarines.

VILLA IS POWERFUL IN NORTH

Rumor Has It That Chihuahua Capital Is Captured by Outlaw Leader—General Funston Has No News of the Reported Coup.

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 26.—Persistent rumors are current on the border that Villa forces have captured Chihuahua City.

These reports, however, have not been confirmed in advices to the Southern department headquarters of the United States army. Major General Frederick Funston, questioned directly regarding the rumors, said that so far as he knew they were not true.

Persons who reached the border from Chihuahua City told army officers that when they left the state capital the fires of Villa's camp were visible plainly from the city.

Washington Is Worried.

Washington, Oct. 26.—Conditions in Northern Mexico, revolving on the new ascendancy of Villa as a military leader, are commanding more attention than at any other time since the border raids which resulted in the dispatch of the American punitive expedition.

Administration officials made no effort to disguise their opinion that the American-Mexican commission sitting at Atlantic City cannot be expected to arrive at a satisfactory solution of border problems until the situation in Chihuahua has been clarified.

An agreement for the early withdrawal of General Pershing's forces from Mexico apparently is considered now as out of the question.

Moreover, the impression stood out clearly from all the views expressed that while the present situation exists there is little possibility that the forces of regulars or national guardsmen on the border will be reduced. It was indicated that no chances would be taken of another raid into American territory.

Villa Power Growing.

Coupled with ugly reports which disparage the stability of General Carranza's regime and interpret his removal from Mexico City to Queretaro as a sign of the breaking up process which his enemies have repeatedly predicted, the military movements of Villa now making a formidable campaign in Chihuahua, are regarded here as menacing the de facto government's control of the whole Northern country.

Prominent in the whole situation are apparently well founded, but indefinite, reports of the connection of the so called Legalista movement with the whole train of events which are expected by those familiar with the Mexican situation here to develop within a short time. Reports came to the war department that Villa's camp fires were in sight of Chihuahua City and that General Trevino, the Carranza commander there, although plentifully supplied with arms and receiving re-inforcements, was short of ammunition, and considering evacuating the capital.

The explosion created a panic. Men and women, scantily dressed, rushed out while fire engines responded to calls.

THE NEWEST REMEDY

FOR Backache, Rheumatism and Dropsy.

Kidney, Bladder and Uric Acid troubles bring misery to many. When the kidneys are weak or diseased, these natural filters do not cleanse the blood sufficiently, and the poisons are carried to all parts of the body. There follow depression, aches and pains, heaviness, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, chilliness and rheumatism. In some people there are sharp pains in the back and loins, distressing bladder disorders and sometimes obstinate dropsy. The uric acid sometimes forms into gravel or kidney stones. When the uric acid affects the muscles and joints, it causes lumbago, rheumatism, gout or sciatica. This is the time to try "Anuric."

During digestion uric acid is absorbed into the system from meat eaten, and even from some vegetables. The poor kidneys get tired and backache begins. This is a good time to take "Anuric," the new discovery of Dr. Pierce for Kidney trouble and Backache. Neglected kidney trouble is responsible for many deaths, and Insurance Company examining doctors always test the water of an applicant before a policy will be issued. Have you ever set aside a bottle of water for twenty-four hours? A heavy sediment or settling sometimes indicates kidney trouble. The true nature and character of diseases, especially those of the kidneys and urinary organs, can often be determined by a careful chemical analysis and microscopic examination—this is done by expert chemists of the Medical Staff of the Invalids' Hotel. If you wish to know your condition send a sample of your water to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and describe your symptoms. It will be examined without any expense to you, and Doctor Pierce or his Staff of Assisting Physicians will inform you truthfully.

GLASS OF SALTS
CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back is aching or Bladder bothers, drink lots of water and eat less meat.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Dario Resta's Record Thriller

BY HAMILTON.

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

New York, Oct. 26.—Dario Resta, the ferocious, devil-may-care Italian driver who has hogged American auto track records and stuck his fingers into the prize money of every country where they tear around tracks in high-powered automobiles, is just taking a breathing spell.

Resta, says he is getting ashamed to take the money and has promised not to enter every cent in the future. He's going to ship a few to give the other boys a chance.

Resta hurtled into the limelight back in 1915 when he hit the high spots in New York. Prior to that he had done a few fancy tricks for the natives in France, Italy and England, and when he hove in view of the Statue of Liberty he was well fortified with a bank roll even if he hadn't scattered records on this side.

From Italy Resta snorted his intrepid way into England and he immediately dare-deviled his way to victory in three of England's highest class events. That was in a Mercedes, but he forsook his colors to climb a Sunbeam. This had no effect on his neck-breaking speed, for he went right on smashing records and won the Grand Prix at Amiens, just before the present European war broke out.

In 1915 he again began to dream of American gold and hid himself back to the shores of the land of plenty, peace and gold. He was in New York just a week and then he beat it for San Francisco, where he proceeded to win two events right in succession, the Vanderbilt cup and the grand prize, something unheard of up to that time.

Then he went to Indianapolis and engaged in one of the fiercest automobile races ever run and forced De Palma, another Italian, to the very limit to win. At Chicago he won the 500-mile event and established a new record.

Then they pulled off a challenge race at Chicago and Resta again nailed his colors to the mast first.

This year has just been one victory after another, including the big events at Chicago and Indianapolis.

In the championship series of races at Chicago De Palma was beaten in every event by the speedy Italian.

Connie Mack Sours on College Talent

Connie Mack has evidently soured on college talent and is now intent on building up his new machine with minor league material. Mack has been very fortunate in the past in grabbing good men from the institutions of higher learning, but the rabbit's foot has evidently quit working. While many of the diamond stars have been rar-rar boys, comparatively few get by the big show without minor league experience. The big leaders may sneer at the "bushes", and the "ticks", but it is a safe bet that the great majority of the stars of tomorrow are now to be found in the minors and not in the halls of learning.

Graney Could not Feaze Bullet Joe

"What'll you give me, Joe, if I don't crack out a hit?" said Jack Graney when he came to bat in the ninth inning of Bush's recent no-hit game. O'Neill and Coleman, the latter batting for Coumbe, had both struck out, each taking a healthy but fruitless swing at the third strike. Graney alone remained between Bush and fame.

"You know, this means a lot to you, Joe," continued Jack in his bantering way. "and you ought to slip me a nice piece of change if I help you out. What do you say?"

Bush simply grinned, set himself to his task in a more determined manner than ever before, and forced Graney to pop to McInnis. Jack was the first to congratulate Joe.

THE NEWEST REMEDY

FOR Backache, Rheumatism and Dropsy.

Kidney, Bladder and Uric Acid troubles bring misery to many. When the kidneys are weak or diseased, these natural filters do not cleanse the blood sufficiently, and the poisons are carried to all parts of the body. There follow depression, aches and pains, heaviness, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, chilliness and rheumatism. In some people there are sharp pains in the back and loins, distressing bladder disorders and sometimes obstinate dropsy. The uric acid sometimes forms into gravel or kidney stones. When the uric acid affects the muscles and joints, it causes lumbago, rheumatism, gout or sciatica. This is the time to try "Anuric."

During digestion uric acid is absorbed into the system from meat eaten, and even from some vegetables. The poor kidneys get tired and backache begins. This is a good time to take "Anuric," the new discovery of Dr. Pierce for kidney trouble and backache. Neglected kidney trouble is responsible for many deaths, and Insurance Company examining doctors always test the water of an applicant before a policy will be issued. Have you ever set aside a bottle of water for twenty-four hours? A heavy sediment or settling sometimes indicates kidney trouble. The true nature and character of diseases, especially those of the kidneys and urinary organs, can often be determined by a careful chemical analysis and microscopic examination—this is done by expert chemists of the Medical Staff of the Invalids' Hotel. If you wish to know your condition send a sample of your water to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and describe your symptoms. It will be examined without any expense to you, and Doctor Pierce or his Staff of Consulting Physicians will inform you truthfully.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back is aching or Bladder bothers, drink lots of water and eat less meat.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.
